

This work contains a theoretical and methodological orientation that adapts to new circumstances and the paradigmatic changes. The strategic planning process is highly complex; its realization requires the intervention of specialists in a lot of areas of knowledge; however, an activity of this nature could not be brought to effect with its mere presence; requires a leadership that give sense to the process, provide the fundamental ideas and set a vision which focuses the efforts and wills towards a common purpose. The leaders do not have to be experts; enough to know the essence of the process: the key concepts, fundamental ideas, general guidance; to them it is addressed this methodology.
